2013 Legislative Year in Review

Money cures many things, including issues in the state Capitol. With voter approval of Proposition 30, which increased sales tax and income tax, and Prop. 39, which repealed a $1 billion corporate tax break, the cycle of multi-billion state budget deficits finally ended — at least for the short term. The economy also improved. Unemployment decreased and stock market and home equities rebounded. Democratic legislators obtained supermajority powers and broader prospects — they could move legislation at will, place measures on the ballot and even override the Governor. Yet these developments were tempered by sobering realities. The adopted budget was balanced but had minimal reserves, and billions of dollars in unfunded pension and health care liabilities remained outstanding. The Governor resisted new spending and continued to get his way on most budget and policy matters.

In 2013 the League focused on sponsoring and supporting legislation to help develop new community and economic development tools and funding options for city services. These efforts included proposals developed by the League's 2012 Task Force on the Next Generation of Economic Development Tools and legislation focused on redevelopment dissolution, affordable housing, infrastructure development and reduced voter thresholds. While legislators were ready to move forward in these areas, the Governor was not. Several helpful redevelopment agency dissolution bills made it through the process and were signed into law, but proposals for new tools and resources stalled or were held back from the Governor's desk. On other fronts, it was another busy year for defending local control on measures that would undercut local authority and revenues.

New Capitol Dynamics: Redistricting, Top-Two Primary and Longer Terms

Other things changed in the Capitol in addition to an improved budget. The November 2012 elections produced the first class of legislators subject to independent redistricting, a top-two primary system and longer term limits. Democrats also captured more than two-thirds of the seats in both houses.

While it is too early to fully assess the results of these reforms, the following observations can be made. The theory behind redistricting reform was that having an independent commission — instead of politicians — draw district boundaries would ensure balance and produce representatives more focused on solving problems than partisan battles. These new legislators, however, have not yet fully made their mark. They voted with their predecessors to reelect the Senate and Assembly leadership previously in place and, with few exceptions, followed it. Their actions in 2014 will be more revealing when legislators decide on replacements for the current term-limited Assembly Speaker and Senate Pro Tem who will exit the Legislature.

The top-two primary signaled change on Election Day when several incumbent Assembly Democrats backed by the Speaker were defeated by challengers from within their own party. The election of Assembly Members Richard Bloom (D-Santa Monica) and Marc Levine (D-San Rafael), both former council members, demonstrated that the top-two primary was a viable vehicle for unseating incumbents, which rarely happened in prior years. This is an improvement from a local accountability standpoint. Instead of being shielded from challengers by their party, legislators will need to be more attentive on district issues. This also increases the value of local endorsements.

In addition, a visible change occurred with the prospect of being able to serve up to 12 years in on legislative house. Unlike their predecessors, the new class of legislators appeared less in a rush to introduce legislation and run for the next office. Many seem genuinely interested in taking the time to develop policy expertise and build relations with each other, including across party lines. If this trend continues, a more policy-focused and deliberative mindset among legislators should improve receptiveness for issues raised by cities and other groups with a stake in policy matters.

Actions of the Supermajority

As the session began, political observers speculated about what the Democrats would do with their new supermajority. Prop. 25 of 2010 had already addressed budget delays by reducing the vote threshold to a majority and cutting legislative pay for missed deadlines, so two-thirds control meant less than in past years. Still, a supermajority cemented the Democrats' control in the Capitol, relegating Republicans to the role of political bystanders. Urgency measures could be adopted and procedural rules waived. Gutting and amending bills in the final hours of a session could reign unchecked. But for Democrats the real question was whether they would assert their authority as a counterweight to the Governor's power. They could place constitutional amendments on the state ballot without the Governor's signature and override vetoes.

Democrats, however, have done little yet to exercise their newly acquired powers. They have introduced several constitutional amendments, including proposals to lower local vote thresholds and change to the initiative process, but little action has resulted. This could simply be a matter of timing. The real deadlines to place measures on the November ballot come in mid-2014. As for an override, there would have to be a significant level of tension and much to consider before any serious attempt would be initiated.

The presence of a supermajority has not fundamentally altered the relationship between Democrats and the Governor. During the first two years of his term, the Governor led the state out of a $26 billion fiscal hole by first convincing the Legislature to accept significant cuts to social programs, eliminate redevelopment agencies and enact prison realignment, and then persuading voters to approve billions of dollars in additional temporary taxes with Prop. 30. The Governor's dominance continued in 2013. Employing wily experience accumulated from years in politics, he continued to set the agenda — shifting nearly $2 billion per year in additional funds for impoverished schools, borrowing cap and trade funds, eliminating enterprise zones and securing an appropriation to house thousands of state prisoners rather than agree to federal court-ordered reduction programs.

Ironically, one of the most significant accomplishments of supermajority action so far was the approval of SCA 3 (Leno), which places a constitutional amendment on the June 2014 ballot to exempt the state from reimbursing local governments approximately $15 million for mandates required by the California Public Records Act (CPRA). Passage of this measure was inspired after the Governor and legislators were criticized by newspapers over a related budget proposal seeking to avoid payment. The measure amends Prop. 59 of 2004, which incorporates the right of public access to information contained in the CPRA and other open meetings laws into the state Constitution. Yet when Prop. 59 was being drafted, the Legislature exempted its own operations from these provisions. Should SCA 3 pass, the lack of state reimbursement obligations and the need for the Legislature to adhere to similar standards may make it easier to expand mandates on local governments.

Democratic Constituencies Groups Get Aggressive

With the state budget issues temporarily resolved and their assistance with the passage of Prop. 30 hopefully not forgotten by the Governor, many Democratic constituency groups envisioned restored programs and the adoption of progressive legislation. While the Governor resisted major new spending in the budget, he was open to many policy proposals that made it to his desk: increasing the minimum wage, expanding rights for same-sex couples, providing driver's licenses to undocumented immigrants, reducing school testing requirements, expanding the application of prevailing wages, and imposing restrictions on guns and bullets. Other legislation introduced in the first year of a two-year session will continue to be debated in 2014. These include liberalizing marijuana policies, providing additional rights to the homeless and limiting the expansion of non-union grocery stores.

Mixed Results on Several Redevelopment Agency Dissolution Cleanup Bills

Numerous legislators carried bills supported or sponsored by the League to address aspects of redevelopment dissolution. Assembly Member Mike Gatto (D-Los Angeles) authored AB 440 to restore "Polanco Act" brownfield remediation authority to cities and counties. Senator Jerry Hill (D-Santa Monica) helped respond to a problem with advertising displays in former redevelopment areas by authoring League-sponsored SB 684. The Governor signed both bills. Regrettably, other helpful proposals did not make it through. AB 981, authored by Assembly Member Richard Bloom (D-Santa Monica), would free up proceeds from post-2011 redevelopment agency bonds to be expended for projects but was held in the Appropriations Committee.

The Governor vetoed two other measures with messages that conveyed his desire to maintain state supervision over details of redevelopment dissolution disputes. AB 564 by Assembly Member Kevin Mullin (D-South San Francisco), sponsored by the League to provide certainty for cities receiving a Department of Finance (DOF) finding of completion by establishing a “one-bite of the apple” policy for DOF reviews, made it through both houses without a single “no” vote. However, the Governor vetoed the measure with a message stating the bill “would make policy changes that are contrary to the letter and intent of current law” and would “severely limit the state's ability to ensure that successor agencies fulfill their obligation to wind down redevelopment affairs in an expeditious manner.” The Governor also vetoed AB 662, a cleanup measure authored by Assembly Member Toni Atkins (D-San Diego). In his AB 662 veto message, the Governor objected to language providing local agencies with flexibility to enter into new or amended contracts covering existing enforceable obligations.

Efforts Around New Tools Stall

Legislators also focused on developing new post-redevelopment tools. Assembly Member Luis Alejo (D-Watsonville) worked closely with the League on AB 1080, a measure that would restore redevelopment authority for disadvantaged communities. Senator Lois Wolk (D-Davis) with SB 33 continued her effort to make infrastructure financing district (IFD) law into a useful tool. Senate Pro Tem Darrell Steinberg (D-Sacramento) authored SB 1, a financing tool for transit-oriented development. Other options for using IFDs came from Assembly Member Roger Dickinson (D-Sacramento) in AB 243 and Assembly Speaker John A. Pérez (D-Los Angeles) in AB 229. All of these measures were held in the Legislature after the Administration sent signals that it was not ready to consider them.

Two other worthwhile proposals, AB 294 and AB 305, were held in committee. Assembly Member Chris Holden (D-Pasadena) authored AB 294, which would allow the State Infrastructure Bank to invest tax increment from the school share of property taxes in projects that matched state and regional goals. Assembly Member V. Manuel Pérez (D-Coachella) authored AB 305, which would assist economic development in disadvantaged areas with a California New Markets Tax Credit.

Other legislators focused on filling the void in affordable housing funding. Senator Mark DeSaulnier (D-Concord), who chairs the Senate Transportation and Housing Committee, crafted SB 391. This bill would provide an annual allocation of approximately $500 million for affordable housing funds derived from a tax on real estate transfer documents. The bill passed the Senate and is pending in the Assembly. Assembly Member Toni Atkins authored AB 1229 to restore local inclusionary zoning authority for rental property. The Governor vetoed that measure and indicated that he wanted to await the Supreme Court’s decision on a related pending case. On a positive note, the Governor approved AB 639 by Assembly Speaker John A. Pérez, which will place before the voters a measure to provide flexibility for $600 million in unused veterans housing bond authority.

Playing Defense to Preserve Existing Economic Development Tools

While the League worked with many legislators to craft new economic development tools, defense had to be played as well.

Enterprise zones have long been the target of legislative criticism, whether it was the impact on the state budget, the types of business assisted or the activities of tax consultants who work with these businesses. The League has historically supported these zones because they are successful in bringing jobs to disadvantaged areas with high unemployment. Under this state program, local agencies had to compete for a zone designation and were also subject to 15-year terms and other accountability requirements. Despite the efforts of a coalition of affected businesses and cities, the Governor succeeded in convincing legislators to accept his proposals, which eliminated enterprise zones as of Jan. 1, 2014, and included phase-out of up to five years for hiring tax credits for employees hired before that date. As replacement programs, the Legislature agreed to eliminate state sales tax on manufacturing equipment, provide authority to the Governor's Office of Economic Development (Go Biz) to offer several hundred million dollars in tax incentives to businesses, and establish a narrow hiring tax credit program targeted toward higher-wage jobs.

In other areas the League worked to protect local authority by opposing measures that would undermine local land use authority and flexibility on economic development. The League opposed and helped defeat AB 667 (Hernandez). This measure would have singled out specific retailers (over 90,000 sq. ft. with 10,000 sq. ft. selling groceries) for an exhaustive economic impact report that would have made it very difficult to approve stores meeting these characteristics and would have also increased litigation. The League opposed this measure due to its interference with local land use decisions. The measure was later held in the Senate Governance and Finance Committee.

A similar but broader measure, SB 673 (DeSaulnier), would have created unnecessary delays and litigation by imposing a new analysis upon any commercial development if the project benefited substantially from any financial assistance such as a state or federal grant, low-interest loan, land donation or acquisition, remediation or environmental cleanup activity. This measure failed passage on Senate Floor. The League also opposed and requested a veto on AB 562 (Williams), which requires specific documentation of information on local economic development efforts. While the bill was signed, the League helped obtain amendments in the Senate to reduce the bill's potential burdens.

Advocating for City Interests

The League advocated for local control and city interests on numerous fronts in 2013.

Preserving Ballot Advocacy Authority. In partnership with the California State Association of Counties (CSAC) and other local government organizations, the League participated in a successful campaign to obtain major amendments to SB 594 (Hill), a gut and amend measure that would have restricted organizations like the League from advocating and spending non-public funds on ballot measures. The bill passed after amendments were inserted that local agencies found acceptable.

Protecting Municipal Affairs. The California Constitution for over 100 years has authorized local voters to adopt local charters that govern their local “municipal affairs.” The courts have interpreted this authority to provide charter cities a level of insulation from state micromanagement. It is of little surprise that such independence does not sit well with legislators or groups who would prefer to dictate policies from the state Capitol. The League opposed two measures in 2013 that would limit local flexibility for charter cities: SB 311 (Padilla), which requires labor-related charter amendments to be placed only on local ballots during a statewide general election; and SB 7 (Steinberg and Cannella), which would withhold all state funding from charter cities if they fail to impose state prevailing wages on local public works projects. Regrettably both of these measures passed into law, but the courts may ultimately determine their legality.

Cap and Trade and Prop. 39 Funds. Over the past several years, the League has been positioning for cities to receive funding generated from sales of carbon reduction credits at state cap and trade auctions. The League supported AB 416 (Gordon) and AB 574 (Lowenthal) as vehicles for these allocations. To the surprise of environmental groups, however, the Governor borrowed approximately $500 million of these funds to help close the budget gap. The two bills stalled as a result, but will likely be revisited next year because the “borrowed” funds will need to be repaid. A similar thing happened to the approximately $500 million per year made available for energy efficiency investments by the passage of Prop. 39 of 2012. The League supported SB 64 (Corbett), which would have allowed cities and other local agencies to compete for Prop. 39 funds. In the budget, however, the Governor proposed to dedicate all the money to energy efficiency improvements to schools, with a primary advantage being that the funds could be scored as an offset to Prop. 98 school funding formulas. The Prop. 39 energy efficiency funds, however, will continue to flow for five years, so the potential remains for broader access to these funds in future budgets.

CEQA Reform. While California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) reform was expected to be a major issue in 2013, things changed when Senator Michael Rubio (D-Bakersfield), who was leading the effort, resigned to take a job in the private sector. The focus then shifted to SB 731 (Steinberg) as the vehicle. A League CEQA task force carefully reviewed the measure and made recommendations. The League successfully lobbied for the requested changes but the bill was held in committee at the end of session. Instead, the author moved SB 743, which streamlines CEQA for the Sacramento Kings arena and includes several statewide provisions that could be helpful in streamlining some development. The League also addressed CEQA issues associated with AB 52 (Gatto) affecting Native American sacred sites.

Housing Elements. Throughout most of the year, the League and other local government groups opposed early versions of AB 325 (Alejo), which extended the statute of limitations to challenge lawfully adopted housing elements from the current one year and 150 days to more than four years. The League opposed this measure due to the lengthy exposure of cities to litigation. Later in the legislative session, prior to the bill being heard on the Senate Floor, a compromise was reached with the author and sponsors and amendments were included that addressed local government concerns. The League took a neutral position on the final version of this measure.

Marijuana Regulation. Many communities and public safety groups remain concerned over the chaotic marijuana regulatory environment, which includes a state voter-approved medical marijuana initiative that has been abused, federal prohibitions, court decisions and mixed local reactions. If an improved regulatory structure is to be developed, it needs to contain flexibility to address community impacts and public safety concerns. While the League assisted with the defeat of several bills, this issue will return in 2014, and cities need to be at the table in future discussions.

Local Contracting and Employee Relations. In recent years, a variety of bills have been introduced that seek to limit local authority to contract for various services. The League opposed several bills in 2013 that would have undermined local authority. AB 1333 (Hernandez), which would have imposed unreasonable conditions on local contracting for waste management, was among the bills that were defeated. Another bill, SB 556 (Corbett), which required contractors to post large lettering on their vehicles and uniforms stating that they were not government employees, was stalled.

Future Transportation Revenues. The League has been working for over a year with a group of transportation stakeholders to build the case for additional revenues devoted to transportation. These efforts include cap and trade (as mentioned earlier) and proposals from other groups. In addition, the League is participating in a working group created by the Governor's January Budget Proposal. The group is reviewing the existing transportation funding system for potential opportunities to increase efficiencies. The new Secretary of Transportation is expected to release a report of recommendations in fall 2013.

Progress on League Strategic Priorities

The League leadership meets each year in November to develop the organization's strategic priorities for the coming year. These priorities were identified for 2013:

- Build Lasting Partnerships. Develop and strengthen long-term relationships and partnerships with new and returning state policy-makers and other stakeholders with common interests to better serve and enhance the quality of life for all Californians.
- Expand Community and Economic Development Tools and Funding Options for City Services. Develop and advocate for new tools and funding options for community and economic development to support job creation, investment in public infrastructure, expansion of affordable housing, and increased funding for essential local services.

- Continue Pension and Other Post-Employment Benefits (OPEB) Reform. Continue and expand upon recent efforts at pension and OPEB reform to ensure the long-term affordability and responsiveness of public services for city residents.
- Implement an Effective League Branding Strategy. Develop and implement a marketing and branding strategy that effectively communicates the League's identity along with the unique benefits that city officials, our partners and the public can expect from the League, its products and services.

A brief summary of League activities in these areas follows.

Building Partnerships. After a major recession and several difficult years of state-local relations, it was time to reinvest and rebuild. State and local budget conditions were improving. A new class of legislators, many from local government, began work at the Capitol with the ability to serve longer terms. League staff and city officials spent significant time connecting with these new legislators and working with them on legislation. Regional divisions hosted meetings and receptions. The League's lobbyists and leadership also met individually with legislators in Sacramento. Relations with the League's traditional partners in local government, business and other organizations were strengthened and paid off in collaborative legislative efforts.

Expanding Community and Economic Development Tools. Activity on this critical priority has been addressed extensively earlier in this article. Many legislators have been working with the League to advance this priority. The table is now set for broader action on economic development, infrastructure and affordable housing. The effort ahead involves working with legislators and the Administration on the next steps.

Continuing Pension and OPEB Reform. Administrative implementation and minor legislative cleanup followed the legislative pension reform accomplishments of 2012. The League began working more closely with CalPERS by forming an advisory group of city officials to attend CalPERS meetings, comment on regulatory proposals and meet periodically with CalPERS leadership. An internal group of city managers continues discussing options on OPEB issues.

League Branding. Research was conducted in this area with the assistance of a League Board-appointed task force and a consultant with specialized expertise. Initial conclusions were that the League retains a strong brand with local officials, policy makers and the press. Suggestions primarily focus on ways to fine-tune the ways the organization communicates its brand, with its primary audience remaining city officials.

The Governor's Actions

Earlier in the year, while explaining his thinking on the benefits of providing schools with additional flexibility Governor Brown spoke to the League Board about the principle of "subsidiarity," which translates into the more familiar "local control." City officials were glad to hear the Governor speak about this concept because it matches their beliefs and practical experience at the local level. Yet while the Governor used these words during the year, his philosophy was less apparent in light of his final decisions on bills affecting local government. One significant, positive development was the Governor's signing into law 85 percent of League-supported bills. For this he deserves the thanks of city officials. On the League's veto requests, however, regarding bills that city officials opposed because they believed the measures undermined local control, his actions are more puzzling. The Governor vetoed only 25 percent of League-opposed bills. Perhaps at some future point the Governor may further clarify his philosophy on preserving local authority.

The Outlook for 2014

2014 should be a year of new opportunities. Barring an unforeseen reversal, the state budget should remain balanced, and the economy will continue to slowly improve. State legislators have already put forward many ideas for tools to invest in infrastructure, transportation and affordable housing that can be pursued in the second year of the two-year legislative session. Discussions about a revised water bond and a new school bond are anticipated, along with potential revisions to local vote thresholds. As always, some new issues will also emerge.

Whatever the New Year brings, the League will continue exploring opportunities for improved partnerships with legislators, administration officials, other organizations and stakeholders while advocating for tools and resources that allow cities to improve their communities, expand economic development and address emerging issues in ways that preserve local control and flexibility. The active engagement of city officials remains critical to shaping the future of our great state.

This resolution urges the U.S. Supreme Court to affirm the constitutionality of Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 (VRA). Section 5 freezes election practices or procedures for "covered jurisdictions" including three counties in California, until a new procedure has been subjected to review, either after an administrative review by the U.S. Attorney General, or after a lawsuit before the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. This resolution was introduced in response to the recent Supreme Court ruling that held that the coverage formula in Section 4 that determines which jurisdictions are covered by Section 5 requirements of the Federal Voting Rights Act is unconstitutional.

*SB 311 (Padilla). Local Elections. Charters and Charter Proposals.
Chapter 184, Statutes of 2013

Thus, a proposal to amend a city or a city and county charter in this way or a newly proposed charter must be submitted to the voters at a statewide general election. City or city and county charter proposals to amend or repeal a charter that are proposed by a voter petition, as specified, and relates to employment matters may continue to be submitted at the next regularly scheduled general municipal election or any established statewide general or statewide primary election, as specified.

*SB 553 (Yee). Local Government. Property Related Fees Assessment. Elections Procedures.

Chapter 215, Statutes of 2013

This measure applies existing practices used with benefit assessment elections to property-related fee elections proposing to impose or increase property-related fees. Before a local government can charge a new property-related fee or increase an existing one, Prop. 218 (1996) requires local officials to: identify the parcels to be charged; calculate the fee for each parcel; notify the parcels' owners in writing about the fees and the hearing; hold a public hearing to consider and count protests; and abandon the fees if a majority of the parcels' owners protest.

New or increased property-related fees require either: a majority vote of the affected property owners; two-thirds registered voter approval; or weighted ballot approval by the affected property owners.

Specifically, this measure provides that:

- If an agency chooses to submit a proposed fee or charge for approval by a majority vote of property owners, this measure requires that each notice include the phrase "OFFICIAL BALLOT ENCLOSED," as specified, the agency's return address, the date and location where the ballots will be tabulated, the place where the person returning the ballot may indicate their name, a reasonable identification of the parcel, and a place to indicate support or opposition.
- If a local agency chooses to submit the proposed fee or charge for voter approval by a two-thirds-vote of the registered voters, as specified, the election must be conducted by an elections official or their designee and any costs associated with the election must be reimbursed to the county, for non-county elections.
- Ballots must be: received at the address indicated or at the site of public testimony; remain sealed until tabulation of all ballots; be treated as disclosable public records, and if applicable, the information used to determine the weight of each ballot; and tabulated in a location accessible to the public.
- Ballot tabulation must: begin at the conclusion of the public hearing on the proposed fee or charge; be conducted by an impartial person with no vested interest in the outcome, including, but not limited to, the clerk of the agency; and be in public view, including the unsealing of the ballot, as specified. Ballot tabulation can continue at a different time provided the governing body announces the time and location at the hearing, and is posted in a location accessible to the public.

This constitutional amendment places a measure on the ballot to amend the California Constitution to require local agencies to comply with the PRA and the Brown Act, and any subsequent amendments that further the constitutional provisions on public access to public agency meetings and records. If passed by the voters, PRA and Brown Act would no longer be considered reimbursable mandates.

SJR 14 (Yee). Voting Right Act of 1965.*Resolutions Chapter 133, Statutes of 2013

This resolution urges the U.S. Congress and the U.S. President to enact amendments to the VRA that would restore Section 4 of the VRA with a new coverage formula and update the entire VRA in order to address ongoing violations of voting rights in the states. This resolution was introduced in response to the recent Supreme Court ruling that held that the coverage formula in Section 4 of the VRA is unconstitutional. Section 4 contains a formula that determines which jurisdictions are covered by Section 5 requirements. Section 5 freezes election practices or procedures until a new procedure has been subjected to review, either after an administrative review by the U. S. Attorney General, or after a lawsuit before the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

This measure permits the Fair Political Practices Commission (FPPC) to develop and operate an online system for filing a Statement of Economic Interest (SEI) for Government Code Section 87200 and 87300 filers. It does not mandate that filers file electronically, but simply provides the option to filers.

The online filing system must include a means or method that enables a filer to electronically file, free of charge, a SEI that includes an electronic transmission that is submitted under penalty of perjury. The system must have security safeguards that include firewalls, data encryption, security authentication and all necessary industry best practices to ensure that the security and the integrity of the data and information contained in the SEI is not jeopardized or compromised.

The measures also requires the FPPC to conduct public hearings to receive input on the implementation of the system; maintain ongoing coordination among affected state and local agencies, as necessary; and develop training and assistance programs for state and local filing officers and filers regarding use of the online system for filing an SEI. The FPPC is required to assume the duties of the local filing officer if authorized to do so by the local filing officer. Local filing officers that do not authorize the FPPC to assume their duties must continue to perform the duties described in Government Code Section 81010.

*SB 594 (Hill). Use of Public Resources.
Chapter 773, Statutes of 2013

This measure requires nonprofit organizations that receive 20 percent or more of their annual operating budgets from public resources and that participate in campaign activities to file reports detailing sources of funding for such campaign activities with the Franchise Tax Board (FTB) if expenditures on state measures/candidates exceed $50,000 in a quarter (quarterly report) or $100,000 in a calendar year (biennial reports) or expenditures on local measures/candidates exceed $2,500 in a quarter (quarterly report) or $10,000 in a calendar year (biennial reports). The measure allows FTB to conduct discretionary audits, and requires mandatory audits after an annual expenditure in excess of $500,000. The measure also provides that when a judgment becomes enforceable, as specified, interest accrues at an annual rate equal to the weekly average one-year constant maturity U.S. Treasury yield at the time of the judgment, plus 2 percent, but not to exceed 7 percent each year.

E. General Administration

*AB 1149 (Campos). Identity Theft. Local Agencies.

Chapter 395, Statutes of 2013

This measure requires local agencies to comply with specified notification requirements in the Information Practices Act of 1977. It requires an agency to notify persons, as specified, in the event of a security breach involving personal information, under two circumstances:

- When an agency owns or licenses computerized data that includes personal information, where there is a breach of the security of the system, as defined, and where unencrypted personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been acquired by an unauthorized person. Under this circumstance, notice must be made in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the legitimate needs of law enforcement as specified, or any measures necessary to determine the scope of the breach and restore the reasonable integrity of the data system.

- When an agency maintains computerized data that includes personal information that the agency does not own, where there is a breach of the security of the data, and the personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by an unauthorized person. Under this circumstance, notice must be provided to the owner or licensee of the information immediately following discovery of the breach.

The measure specifies different notice requirements when a breach of personal information contains a user name or email address, in combination with a password or security question and answer that would permit access to an online account and no other personal information was breached, as specified. Under this circumstance, the agency may comply with the notice requirement by providing the security breach notification in electronic or other form that directs the person whose personal information has been breached to promptly change his or her password and security question or answer, as applicable, or to take other steps appropriate to protect the online account with the agency and all other online accounts for which the person uses the same user name or email address and password or security questions and answers. The measure further provides specific notification requirements when there is a breach of the security of the system involving an email account furnished by the agency.

Personal information means an individual's first name or first initial and last name in combination with any of the following, when either the name or the data elements are not encrypted:

- Social security number;
- Driver's license number or California identification card number;
- Account number, credit or debit number, in combination with any required security code, access code, or password that would permit access to an individual's financial account;
- Medical Information; or
- Health Insurance Information.

Personal information also means a user name or email address, in combination with a password or security question and answer that would permit access to an online account.

Notice must meet all of the following requirements:

- The notification must be written in plain language.
- The notification must include, at a minimum, the following information:
  - The name and contact information of the agency (e.g. city of X).
  - A list of the types of personal information that were or are reasonably believed to have been the subject of a data breach.
  - If the information is possible to determine at the time the notice is provided, any of the following: the date of the breach, the estimate date of the breach, or the date range within which the breach occurred. The notice must also include the date of the notice.

- Whether the notification was delayed as a result of a law enforcement investigation, if that information is possible to determine at the time the notice is provided.
- A general description of the breach of the incident, if that information is possible to determine at the time the notice is provided.
- The toll-free telephone numbers and addresses of the major credit reporting agencies, if the breach exposed a social security number or driver's license or California identification card number.

At the agency's discretion information can also be included that explains what the agency has done to protect the individuals whose information has been breached and advice on steps that can be taken to protect the person whose information has been breached.

Notice may be provided by one of the following methods:

- Written notice;
- Electronic notice, if the notice provided is consistent with the provisions regarding electronic records and signatures, as specified; or
- Substitute notice, if the agency demonstrates that the cost of providing notice would exceed $250,000, or that the affected class or subject persons to be notified exceeds $500,000, or the agency does not have sufficient contact information, as specified.

If an agency maintains its own notification procedures as part of an information security policy for the treatment of personal information and is otherwise consistent with the timing requirements as provided in the measure, the agency will be considered in compliance with the notification requirements, as specified, if the agency notifies subjected persons in accordance with its own policies in the event of a breach of a security system.

Work sharing programs are used as an alternative to layoffs. In addition to codifying existing provisions of the California Code of Regulations related to work sharing plans, this measure makes several conforming changes, including the following:

- Reduces from 90 to 60 percent the maximum percentage of reduction of usual weekly hours of work for which a work sharing plan may be approved.
- Requires participating employers providing health or retirement benefits to continue those benefits for the duration of the program, to the extent permitted by federal law, as if the affected employees were working normal hours. Health and retirement benefits include health insurance, defined benefit retirement plans, and defined contribution retirement plans.
- Requires applications for work sharing programs to include: a description of how the employer will notify employees of a work sharing plan; an estimate of the layoffs averted by implementing a work sharing program; and a certification by the employer that their participation in a work sharing program is consistent with the employer's obligation under state and federal law.

*AB 1222 (Bloom). Public Employees' Retirement. Collective Bargaining. Transit Workers. Transportation.

Chapter 527, Statutes of 2013 (Urgency)

This measure makes an exemption to Public Employees' Pension Reform Act of 2013 (PEPRA) for employees who are covered by 13(c) arrangements until either a federal district court rules that the U.S. Secretary of Labor (or his or her designee) erred in determining that application of PEPRA precludes certification of federal transit funding or January 1, 2015, whichever is sooner. If the federal district court upholds the determination of the U.S. Secretary of Labor (or the designee) that application of PEPRA precludes certification of federal transit funding, then PEPRA will not apply to an employee protected under a 13(c) arrangement.

This measure was introduced in response to the actions by the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL) to withhold certification of federal grants to California transit agencies after labor unions representing transit employees asserted to USDOL that PEPRA impairs pension benefits contained in existing collective bargaining agreements and restricts collective bargaining rights, which violates the protections of Section 13(c) of the Federal Transit Act.

Existing federal law protects the collective bargaining rights of specified transit workers employed in certain transit agencies and districts that were converted from private to public agencies and requires, under Section 13(c) of the Federal Transit Law, that these employee protections, commonly referred to as "protective arrangements" or "Section 13(c) arrangements" must be certified by USDOL and in place before federal transit funds can be released to a mass transit employer subject to the Federal Transit Law. Federal law also empowers USDOL to determine if collective bargaining rights have been impaired, and if so determined, to stop the flow of federal transportation funding until such time as those rights have been restored.

Chapter 613, Statutes of 2013

*SB 743 (Steinberg). Environmental Quality: Transit-Oriented Infill Projects, Judicial Review Streamlining for Environmental Leadership Development Projects, and Entertainment and Sports Center in the City of Sacramento. Chapter 386, Statutes of 2013

This measure represents the Legislature's effort at reforming CEQA. While this measure contains proposals specific to the Arena that is to be built in Sacramento, it also contains statewide provisions affecting CEQA.

- Sacramento Arena Specific Provisions: This bill authorizes the city of Sacramento to use eminent domain prior to the completion of the Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the Arena, requires Judicial Council to adopt a rule that requires the courts to resolve actions or proceedings challenging the EIR or the project approval within 270 days of certification of the record of proceedings, and requires the preparation of a concurrent record of proceeding available to the public in electronic format. The bill prohibits the court from staying or enjoining the construction or operation of the Arena unless there is an imminent threat to the public health and safety or the Arena site contains unforeseen important Native American artifacts or unforeseen important archaeological, historical or ecological values that would be materially, permanently and adversely affected by the construction and operation of the arena. If one of the two conditions above are satisfied, then the court may only enjoin those specific activities associated with the imminent threat or the unforeseen important artifacts.
- Jobs and Economic Improvement Through Leadership: This measure revises the Jobs and Economic Improvement Through Environmental Leadership Act of 2011 to apply only to those projects designated by the Governor as an "environmental leadership project" prior to January 1, 2016. It directs the Judicial Council to adopt a rule that requires actions or proceedings seeking judicial review of a public agency's action in certifying the environmental impact report (EIR) for an "environmental leadership project" to be resolved within 270 days of the certification of the record of proceedings instead of proceeding directly to the Court of Appeal in order to expedite judicial review. The bill also defines "prevailing wages" to mean that all construction workers employed in the execution of the project will receive at least the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for the type of work and geographic area as determined by the director of the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) and the project applicant is required to include this requirement in all contracts for the performance of the work. This measure also repeals the Jobs and Economic Improvement Through Environmental Leadership Act of 2011 on January 1, 2017.
- Other CEQA Changes: Additional statewide changes to CEQA include the requirement for the Governor's Office of Planning and Research (OPR) to develop a revision to the CEQA guidelines establishing criteria for determining the significance of transportation impacts of projects within transit priority areas. OPR is required to circulate a draft on or before July 1, 2014. Upon certification of the guidelines, automobile delay described solely by level of service (LOS) or similar measures of vehicle capacity or traffic congestion shall not be considered a significant impact on the environment within transit priority areas. The adequacy of parking for a project shall not support a finding of significance within a transit priority area after certification of the guidelines. This change does not preclude the application of local general plan policies, zoning codes, conditions of approval, thresholds or any other planning requirements pursuant to police power or any other authority. OPR is also authorized to establish alternative metrics for traffic LOS outside transit priority areas including the retention of LOS, where appropriate and as determined by OPR. Aesthetics and parking impacts of a residential, mixed-use residential, or employment center project on an infill site within a transit priority area shall not be considered significant impacts on the environment, but this doesn't affect the ability of a lead agency to consider aesthetics pursuant to local design review ordinances or other discretionary powers provided under the law. Finally, unless "new information" or "changed circumstances" require additional environmental review, SB 743 provides an exemption from CEQA for a residential, employment center, mixed-use development if the project is within a transit priority area, the project is undertaken to implement and is consistent with the specific plan for which an EIR has been certified, and the project is consistent with the general use designation, density, building intensity, and applicable policies specified for the project area in either a sustainable communities strategy (SCS) or alternative planning strategy (APS) for which the State Air Resources Board (ARB) has accepted a metropolitan planning organization's determination that the SCS or APS would, if implemented, achieve the greenhouse gas emissions reduction targets. See appendix A for a full summary of the measure and other related resources.

SB 788 (Transportation and Housing Committee). Transportation.
Chapter 523, Statutes of 2013

This measure makes non-controversial changes to section of law relating to transportation. Of interest to cities, the measure defines the term "highway" for the purposes of establishing whether or not increased transit service qualifies for an exemption pursuant to CEQA; updates descriptions of various highways to reflect relinquishments of those highways to local agencies; and, aligns the definition of Class I bikeway with the federal criteria.

SB 606 (De León). Harassment. Child or Ward.*Chapter 348, Statutes of 2013

This measure provides that harassment of a child based on the job or employment of the child's parent or guardian means knowing and willful conduct directed at a specific child or ward that seriously alarms, annoys, torments, or terrorizes that child, and that serves no legitimate purpose.

E. Civil Liberties

*AB 351 (Donnelly). Civil Liberties. Suspension of Habeas Corpus for American Citizens.*Chapter 450, Statutes of 2013

This measure prohibits state agencies, the California National Guard, and all political subdivisions within California from aiding the U.S. Armed Forces or any of its agencies in the investigation, prosecution, or detention of a person within California pursuant to Sections 1021 and 1022 of the National Defense Authorization Act of 2012. These sections respectively authorize the U.S. Armed Forces to detain specified persons pursuant to the Authorization for Use of Military Force (the Congressional resolution enacted following the September 11, 2001 attacks), and provide for military custody of foreign Al Qaeda terrorists. AB 351 provides that it is California policy to refuse to provide material support for any federal law authorizing indefinite detention of a person within California. It also carves out a qualified exception for participation in joint task forces with federal law enforcement, and provides that its prohibitions apply where the proscribed activity violates the U.S. or California Constitutions.

*AB 508 (Calderon, I.). Debt Collection. Homeless Veterans.*Chapter 234, Statutes of 2013

This measure prohibits, for a period of five years, the garnishment of earnings, and the levy on a bank account or the earnings of a homeless veteran who served in the military within the previous eight years. The prohibited garnishment is based on the enforcement and collection of fees, fines, forfeitures or penalties imposed by a court for violation of state or local laws related to loitering, illegal lodgings, and similar violations.

F. Controlled Substances

AB 492 (Quirk). Probation. Nonviolent Drug Offenses.

Chapter 13, Statutes of 2013

This measure provides that where a defendant is placed on probation under the Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act of 2000, the court in the county of conviction shall transfer the case to the county of the defendant's residence, unless the court in the county of conviction determines that the transfer would be inappropriate.

*AB 721 (Bradford). Controlled Substances. Transporting with Intent to Sell.

Chapter 504, Statutes of 2013

This measure redefines "transport" of a controlled substance to mean "transport for sale," and clarifies that it does not preclude prosecution for a controlled substance violation under either an aiding and abetting theory, or a conspiracy theory. This has the effect of restricting prosecution on felony drug transportation charges to instances in which individuals are actually involved in drug trafficking or sales, as opposed to simple possession of the prohibited controlled substance.

AB 1136 (Levine). Pharmacists. Drug Disclosures.

Chapter 304, Statutes of 2013

This measure requires pharmacists, as of July 1, 2014, to include a written label on a prescription drug container indication that the drug may impair a person's ability to operate a vehicle or vessel, if in the pharmacist's professional judgment; he determines that the drug may have such an effect.

SB 294 (Emmerson). Sterile Drug Products.

Chapter 565, Statutes of 2013

It requires the BOP to submit a report to the Legislature, on or before January 1, 2018, on the regulation of non-resident pharmacies. This measure imposes a state-mandated local program by imposing additional requirements in Pharmacy Law, the violation of which would be a crime.

*SB 566 (Leno). Industrial Hemp.

Chapter 398, Statutes of 2013

This measure establishes the Industrial Hemp Farming Act and allows the regulated cultivation and processing of industrial hemp, upon federal approval. It revises the definition of "marijuana" to clarify that it does not include industrial hemp, as defined by this legislation. SB 566 prohibits the pruning and tending of industrial hemp plants, except as specified. It also defines industrial hemp as a fiber or oilseed crop that is limited to the non-psychoactive types of the plant Cannabis sativa L. and the seed that it produces.

SB 809 (DeSaulnier). Controlled Substances. Reporting.

Chapter 400, Statutes of 2013.

This measure establishes a funding mechanism to update and maintain the CURES and PDMP under the California Department of Justice, and makes other changes related to the CURES and PDMP programs. CURES contains data on patients taking controlled substances, and PDMP regulates prescription and dispensing of those substances, and provides patient history information to regulatory boards and law enforcement.

G. Corrections

AB 610 (Buchanan). State Hospitals. Involuntary Treatment.

Chapter 705, Statutes of 2013

This measure requires, 180 days before termination of a prisoner's parole, the medical director of a state hospital treating a parolee, or community program director in charge of the parolee's outpatient program, or the secretary of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR), to submit to the district attorney of the county of commitment, or of the county in which the parolee is receiving outpatient treatment, a written evaluation on the patient's remission. It also requires the county of commitment to pay the non-treatment costs associated with any hearing for an order seeking involuntary treatment with psychotropic medication, or other medication requiring an order, for mentally disordered offenders whose commitment to a state hospital has been extended beyond the expiration of parole.

AB 625 (Quirk). Notaries Public. Acceptance of Identification.

Chapter 159, Statutes of 2013

This measure provides that an inmate identification card that is current or has been issued within the past five years by CDCR is a valid form of identification for a credible witness to prove the identity of an individual who executes a written instrument. It addresses the problem of establishing for a notary public the identity of incarcerated women for purposes of facilitating the execution of visitation forms, establishing guardianship over their children during periods of incarceration, and ensuring their children's access to school and medical treatment.

AB 720 (Skinner). Inmates. Health Care Enrollment.*Chapter 646, Statutes of 2013

This measure authorizes each county board of supervisors, in consultation with county sheriffs, to designate an entity or entities to assist county jail inmates apply for a health insurance affordability program. This measure authorizes the entity, to the extent authorized by federal law and to which federal financial participation is available, to act on behalf of a county jail inmate in applying for, and determining, Medi-Cal eligibility for acute inpatient hospital services. In addition, it provides that county jail inmates currently enrolled in Medi-Cal shall remain eligible for, and shall not be terminated from, the program due to their detention, unless required by federal law, they become otherwise ineligible, or the suspension of their benefits has ended. This measure may impact cities since the enactment of AB 986 (Bradford, Chapter 788, Statutes of 2013), which authorizes inmates to serve briefly in a city jail. It is also of note due to state's pending re-opening of community corrections facilities.

*SB 105 (Steinberg). Corrections.*Chapter 310, Statutes of 2013

This measure implements the Governor's plan to reduce California's prison population to 137.5 percent of capacity by December 31, 2013. The measure re-opens 14 community corrections facilities (CCFs) across the state to house up to 3,000 inmates, and authorizes up to 5,000 inmates to be transferred out of state, including temporary authority to perform involuntary transfers, set to expire in three years. The projected cost is $1.13 billion through the end of FY 2015 - 2016, with additional annual costs of about $350 million to maintain CCFs.

SB 162 (Lieu). Prisoners. Temporary Removal.*Chapter 56, Statutes of 2013

This measure clarifies trial courts' jurisdiction by authorizing superior courts to order the temporary removal of an inmate from a state prison facility to transfer him to a county jail for a legitimate law enforcement purpose. It codifies a process for district attorneys and peace officers to seek a court order for such removal if it will help further a criminal investigation by filing an affidavit showing good cause for same. Absent this clarification, local law enforcement would have to incur the expense of travel to state prison facilities to interview inmates, posing significant safety concerns for inmates in the process if they are seen to be assisting law enforcement. Host counties to which the inmates are transferred are to bear the cost of transport. This is the companion legislation to SB 771 (Galgiani, Chapter 181, Statutes of 2013).

SB 260 (Hancock). Youth Offender Parole Hearings.*Chapter 312, Statutes of 2013

This measure requires the Board of Parole Hearings to establish a parole process for youth sentenced prior to reaching 18 years of age. Specifically, it requires BPH to consider the suitability for parole of offenders who were under age 18 at the time they committed specified crimes. SB 260 provides the following potential parole mechanisms for such youth: for those youth serving a determinate sentence, eligibility for parole upon the 15th year on incarceration; for those youth serving a life sentence of less than 25 years to life, eligibility for parole upon the 20th year of incarceration; for those youth serving a life sentence of 25 years to life, eligibility for parole upon the 25th year of incarceration. This measure defines incarceration as detention in a city or county jail, a local juvenile facility, a mental health facility, a Division of Juvenile Justice facility, or a CDCR facility.

SB 463 (Pavley). Sentencing.
Chapter 508, Statutes of 2013

This measure extends the sunset date on specified sentencing provisions in the Penal Code from January 1, 2014 to January 1, 2017, allowing courts the discretion to select a lower, middle, or upper term for base term sentences and enhancements. This maintains current sentencing procedures put in place by SB 40 (Romero, Chapter 3, Statutes of 2007), which amended California's determinate sentencing law to give judges the discretion to impose a range of sentencing terms as they deemed appropriate without the need for additional fact-finding.

SB 771 (Galgiani). Inmates. Temporary Removal.
Chapter 181, Statutes of 2013 (Urgency)

This measure authorizes the secretary of the CDCR to temporarily remove an inmate from prison, or any other institution, for the purpose of permitting the inmate to assist with the gathering of evidence related to crimes. This bill is the companion to SB 162 (Lieu, Chapter 56, Statutes of 2013).

H. Crimes

AB 329 (Pan). Ticket Sellers. Equitable Online Ticket Buying Process. Sale or Use of Circumventing Software.

Chapter 325, Statutes of 2013

This measure imposes misdemeanor penalties for intentional use or sale of software designed to circumvent a security measure, access control system, or other measure on a ticket seller's website that is used to ensure an equitable ticket buying process. It is designed to deter the use of "bots" – software programs used to access a ticket seller's website that is selling tickets to high-profile concerts or other popular events, to jump ahead of other online purchasers and buy large numbers of tickets. Scalpers use this technique to cause premature sell-outs from which they profit.

Chapter 340, Statutes of 2013

This measure prohibits a repossession agency from disclosing to the public, absent a court order, the residence address, telephone number, cellular telephone number, driver's license number, work schedule, any location, or any other personal information associated with any licensee, registrant, employee or independent contractor that it employs. It also prohibits a reposessor from selling repossessed items or accepting payment from a debtor instead of repossession. This measure creates a new crime and therefore imposes a state-mandated local program.

AB 849 (Garcia). Protection of Victims. Address Confidentiality.*Chapter 676, Statutes of 2013

This measure adds abuse of an elder or dependent adult to the list of issues for which the SOS is required to designate state and local agencies and non-profit agencies that provide counseling and shelter services. Previous law already required the designation of such agencies for victims of domestic violence or stalking.

AB 908 (Bonilla). Unemployment Insurance. Use of Information.*Chapter 553, Statutes of 2013

Excluded from the measure's scope is any distribution by a coroner or any law enforcement agency for investigative purposes, including identification. It expressly precludes a coroner from being held personally liable for monetary damages in a related civil action based on these provisions of law.

*AB 1149 (Campos). Identity Theft. Local Agencies.*Chapter 395, Statutes of 2013

This measure requires local agencies to comply with specified notification requirements in the Information Practices Act of 1977. It requires an agency to notify persons, as specified, in the event of a security breach involving personal information, under two circumstances:

- When an agency owns or licenses computerized data that includes personal information, where there is a breach of the security of the system, as defined, and where unencrypted personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been acquired by an unauthorized person. Under this circumstance, notice must be made in the most expedient time possible and without unreasonable delay, consistent with the legitimate needs of law enforcement as specified, or any measures necessary to determine the scope of the breach and restore the reasonable integrity of the data system.

- When an agency maintains computerized data that includes personal information that the agency does not own, where there is a breach of the security of the data, and the personal information was, or is reasonably believed to have been, acquired by an unauthorized person. Under this circumstance, notice must be provided to the owner or licensee of the information immediately following discovery of the breach.

The measure specifies different notice requirements when a breach of personal information contains a user name or email address, in combination with a password or security question and answer that would permit access to an online account and no other personal information was breached, as specified. Under this circumstance, the agency may comply with the notice requirement by providing the security breach notification in electronic or other form that directs the person whose personal information has been breached to promptly change his or her password and security question or answer, as applicable, or to take other steps appropriate to protect the online account with the agency and all other online accounts for which the person uses the same user name or email address and password or security questions and answers. The measure further provides specific notification requirements when there is a breach of the security of the system involving an email account furnished by the agency.

Personal information means an individual's first name or first initial and last name in combination with any of the following, when either the name or the data elements are not encrypted:

- Social security number;
- Driver's license number or California identification card number;
- Account number, credit or debit number, in combination with any required security code, access code, or password that would permit access to an individual's financial account;
- Medical information; or
- Health insurance information.

Personal information also means a user name or email address, in combination with a password or security question and answer that would permit access to an online account.

Notice must meet all of the following requirements:

- The notification must be written in plain language.
- The notification must include, at a minimum, the following information:
  - The name and contact information of the agency (e.g. City of X);
  - A list of the types of personal information that were or are reasonably believed to have been the subject of a data breach; and
  - If the information is possible to determine at the time the notice is provided, any of the following: the date of the breach, the estimate date of the breach or

- the date range within which the breach occurred. The notice must also include the date of the notice.
- Whether the notification was delayed as a result of a law enforcement investigation, if that information is possible to determine at the time the notice is provided.
  - A general description of the breach of the incident, if that information is possible to determine at the time the notice is provided.
  - The toll-free telephone numbers and addresses of the major credit reporting agencies, if the breach exposed a social security number or driver's license or California identification card number.

At the agency's discretion information can also be included that explains what the agency has done to protect the individuals whose information has been breached and advice on steps that can be taken to protect the person whose information has been breached.

Notice may be provided by one of the following methods:

- Written notice;
- Electronic notice, if the notice provided is consistent with the provisions regarding electronic records and signatures, as specified; or
- Substitute notice, if the agency demonstrates that the cost of providing notice would exceed $250,000, or that the affected class or subject persons to be notified exceeds $500,000, or the agency does not have sufficient contact information, as specified.

If an agency maintains its own notification procedures as part of an information security policy for the treatment of personal information and is otherwise consistent with the timing requirements as provided in the measure, the agency will be considered in compliance with the notification requirements, as specified, if the agency notifies subjected persons in accordance with its own policies in the event of a breach of a security system.

Chapter 215, Statutes of 2013

This measure applies existing practices used with benefit assessment elections to property-related fee elections proposing to impose or increase property-related fees. Before a local government can charge a new property-related fee or increase an existing one, Prop. 218 (1996) requires local officials to: identify the parcels to be charged; calculate the fee for each parcel; notify the parcels' owners in writing about the fees and the hearing; hold a public hearing to consider and count protests; and abandon the fees if a majority of the parcels' owners protest.

New or increased property-related fees require either: a majority-vote of the affected property owners; two-thirds registered voter approval; or weighted ballot approval by the affected property owners.

Specifically, this measure provides that:

- If an agency chooses to submit a proposed fee or charge for approval by a majority vote of property owners, this measure requires that each notice include the phrase "OFFICIAL BALLOT ENCLOSED," as specified, the agency's return address, the date and location where the ballots will be tabulated, the place where the person returning the ballot may indicate their name, a reasonable identification of the parcel, and a place to indicate support or opposition.

- If a local agency chooses to submit the proposed fee or charge for voter approval by a two-thirds-vote of the registered voters, as specified, the election must be conducted by an elections official or their designee and any costs associated with the election must be reimbursed to the county, for non-county elections.
- Ballots must be: received at the address indicated or at the site of public testimony; remain sealed until tabulation of all ballots; be treated as disclosable public records, and if applicable, the information used to determine the weight of each ballot; and tabulated in a location accessible to the public.

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Reform

This year was supposed to be the year for California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) reform but even the best laid plans can go awry and the definition of “reform” viewed differently from party to party.

Initially former Senator Michael Rubio, a Central Valley Democrat, was leading the effort but things changed when he resigned to take a job in the private sector earlier this year. The focus then shifted to SB 731 (Steinberg) as the vehicle.

In its early stages SB 731’s contents were mostly intent language. Still, organizations lined up to testify on behalf of the legislation partially because it was the only game in town. By the time the bill reached the Assembly, however, factions emerged with some voicing concerns over whether the measure’s contents would actually streamline the process or reduce litigation.

League CEQA Taskforce and Bill Position Formed

The League formed a CEQA Taskforce in preparation to engage in discussions and negotiations. League President Bill Bogaard appointed members from four different policy committees. The taskforce held meetings to review the bill in detail, and developed recommendations on each provision in the bill. To preserve flexibility, taskforce members recommended the League take a “concern” position with the option to oppose should the League’s concerns go unaddressed. The taskforce’s recommendation was concurred with by four League policy committees and the League’s Board.

The League met with Senate President Pro Tem Steinberg’s staff, the Planning and Conservation League, a coalition of business interests called the CEQA Working Group, and the Public Works Coalition to gain a broader perspective on the bill. As lead agencies, the League believes cities have important expertise and should be seated at the CEQA negotiation table. Along with other members of the Public Works Coalition, the League submitted proposed amendments to SB 731. The amendments sought to ameliorate the concerns lead agencies had with the language in the bill.

For example, an earlier version of SB 731 would have required lead agencies to post statements of overriding considerations 10 days prior to the approval of a proposed project, possibly triggering another CEQA comment period. The League opposed this provision because of the increased delay and additional litigation opportunities another comment period would provide, but instead offered a 10-day notice that would not trigger a CEQA comment period as an alternative. Provisions such as this caused the League to join other public agency organizations and change its position from “concern” to “oppose unless amended.”

Bill Support Decreases; SB 731 Stalls

Two days before the end of session, SB 731 was scheduled to be heard in the Assembly Local Government Committee. Most of the amendments requested by the League had been accepted at that point, which meant lead agencies wouldn't be negatively impacted by the bill but probably wouldn't benefit either. Senator Steinberg had two bills in the committee, SB 731 relating to CEQA reform and SB 743 dealing with CEQA streamlining for the Sacramento Kings Arena.

By then, prior support for SB 731 had waned and shifted. Opposition to the bill came from the CEQA Working Group, various environmental groups, and the Public Works Coalition. The Governor's Office of Planning and Research (OPR) also had concerns with the legislation. Ultimately, Senator Steinberg chose to move only SB 743 after agreeing to insert statewide CEQA provisions from SB 731 into SB 743.

SB 743 Signed by Governor

In addition to assisting the basketball arena, provisions of SB 743:

- Require OPR to develop new guidelines on ways to analyze traffic impacts. The measure provides that using Level of Service to measure traffic delay will not trigger a significant impact on the environment, except where identified in the OPR guidelines.
- Require OPR to develop new guidelines on how to analyze traffic impacts in transit priority areas. After adoption of the guidelines, Level of Service as a measurement of traffic delay will not be allowed within a transit priority area.
- Expand an existing CEQA exemption for residential projects implementing a specific plan for which an EIR was already prepared to any residential, employment center or mixed use within a transit priority area if it is consistent with the specific plan for which an EIR is prepared and is consistent with the Sustainable Communities Strategy/Alternative Planning Strategy.

With these changes SB 743 passed the Assembly Floor by a vote of 56–7 and the Senator Floor by a vote of 32–2. The bill was signed by the Governor on September 27, 2013.

As for SB 731, the measure was shelved by Senator Steinberg and is now considered a two-year bill. In a Capitol Public Radio interview Steinberg told reporters he was “pleased with the California Environmental Quality Act changes he pushed through at the end of the year's session — and he won't be carrying a broader CEQA overhaul next year.”

Governor’s Economic Development Initiative (AB 93), (SB 90) New Programs and Enterprise Zone Elimination

The law up until January 1, 2014 authorized the designation of up to 42 Enterprise Zones (EZs) which offered various economic development incentives for businesses in economically distressed areas. Benefits included a sales tax credit, hiring tax credit and a net interest deduction.

The Governor’s proposal eliminates the EZ program in its entirety and replaces it with three different components of limited duration: a manufacturing sales tax exemption on the purchase of manufacturing equipment; a narrowly-targeted employment credit that can be used within the boundaries of former EZs minus any areas within those boundaries with the lowest rates of unemployment and poverty, Local Agency Military Base Recovery Areas (LAMBRA) and the poorest 25 percent of the state’s census tracts; and, a California Competes Credit issued by the Governor’s Office of Business and Economic Development (GO-Biz) to offer income tax credits on a negotiated basis to employers. AB 93 is considered revenue-neutral in that it redirects approximately $750 million towards the new program. Some legislators voted in favor of AB 93 by securing a commitment from the Administration for specific changes to AB 93 which was ultimately included in SB 90.

Changed Sales Tax Credits for Manufacturing Equipment

Prior to the elimination of the EZ program, businesses located in an EZ could take advantage of a sales and use tax credit for purchases of manufacturing equipment, but the total cost of the purchases could not exceed $1 million for personal income tax filers and $20 million for corporation tax filers. This credit was available for the duration of the EZ designation (EZs initially received a 15-year designation). The cost of the sales and use tax component is not known because both the hiring tax credit costs and the sales and use tax credit costs are combined. However, the Personal Income Tax portion for both costs approximately $293 million and the Corporate Tax portion for both costs approximately $414 million. Estimates put the sales tax component around $100 million.

Under the Governor’s proposal, the sales and use tax credit is eliminated, as of January 1, 2014, in favor of a temporary statewide provision. The new manufacturing and sales and use tax exemption in AB 93 will be available July 1, 2014 statewide, without geographic limitations, for the purchase of qualified equipment used for manufacturing, biotechnology research and experimental development in the physical, engineering and life sciences. The exemption allows up to $200 million in purchases from a single entity to qualify. AB 93 provides that the exemption expires on July 1, 2022, eight years after the sales tax exemption begins.

The Senate Budget Committee estimated that for FY 2014–2015, the state will spend $486 million on this provision, $521 million in FY 2015–2016, and $531 million in FY 2016–17.

Changed Hiring Tax Credits

Prior to the expiration of the EZ program, businesses in an EZ could hire individuals with barriers to employment including those that are economically disadvantaged, dislocated workers, disabled, ex-offenders, members of a federally-recognized Indian tribe, residents of a targeted employment area, etc. The incentives offered to businesses to hire these workers were robust as an incentive to hire individuals with barriers to employment and provide training to those who might have otherwise lacked qualifications. Businesses receive 50 percent of taxable wages up to $12 an hour for the first year of employment, 40 percent for the second, 30 percent for the third, 20 percent for the fourth, and 10 percent for the fifth year of employment. For example, an employer that paid $12 an hour for 40 hours of work per week for 50 weeks would have received approximately $10,000 in a hiring tax credit (technically, closer to $12,000, except the law capped the credit that could be earned). Businesses were eligible to receive up to $37,440 over five years for a single employee.

All types of businesses were eligible for the hiring tax credit regardless of whether a new position was created or retained an existing position. Businesses were also authorized to carry forward earned credits which do not expire. While the exact figure for the hiring tax credit is not known, it is generally accepted that this was the most costly provision of the EZ program at about $500 million.

AB 93 eliminates the above hiring tax credit as of January 1, 2014. Existing employers in EZs can collect credits for any employee hired before that date for five years, and can carry forward any unused credits for up to 10 years.

An extremely narrowed new employment credit will be offered to businesses, subject to numerous restrictive conditions that are likely to limit interest in the program. Under the revised proposal:

Much Less Being Offered: An employer in an EZ, in one of the identified 25 percent census tracts, or in a LAMBRA would be eligible to receive a 35 percent credit only on wages offered between $12 and $28 per hour. For example, a business paying an employee $12 an hour will not receive any tax credit, but an employer paying $14 an hour for 40 hours a week for 50 weeks would receive a 35 percent credit for $2 an hour of wages for approximately a $1,400 tax credit. While the Governor's office has indicated that potentially an employer could earn up to $56,000 for the hiring tax credit if the employer pays at least $28 per hour, this scenario is highly unlikely given the restricted pool of eligible employees, many who will lack marketable skills to be worth wages in excess of $12 per hour. SB 90 contains an amendment to the wage requirement that will create five pilot project areas that can receive the credit for wages over $10 an hour, not $12. Not many details of the pilot project are known, except that GO-Biz will have sole discretion over the designation of the pilot areas. The Senate Budget Committee estimates that the state will spend $7 million for the hiring tax credit in FY 2013–2014, $34 million in FY 2014–2015, $70 million in FY 2015–2016 and $110 in FY 2016–2017. For a credit that was previously worth approximately $500 million a year, this is a significant reduction.

Smaller Pool of Eligible Applicants: The categories of employees eligible for the hiring tax credit are limited to individuals either:

- a) Unemployed for six months;
- b) Receiving the federal Earned Income Tax Credit;
- c) Recently discharged from military service (separated in last 12 months);
- d) Ex-offenders (convicted of a felony); and
- e) Cal Works recipients.

Ineligible Businesses: Excluded businesses include all retail, food related jobs, and temporary jobs (fast food, restaurants, car dealerships etc.), unless they are a small business having gross receipts of less than $2 million. SB 90 also excluded all “sexually oriented businesses” from the hiring tax credit.

Only Added Jobs Count: AB 93 contains a “net new” jobs provision. In order to qualify for any new credit, an employer must increase the total number of jobs from one year to the next. The new employee must remain employed for three years or any earned credits could be required to be returned. While the policy behind this requirement may seem logical, the result will be to remove the incentive to retain existing jobs in disadvantaged areas of the state.

Offering is Temporary: The new employment credit expires in 2021. Given its short duration and many limitations it is likely that this program will be undersubscribed and wither, resulting in little reason to continue such a program focused on former EZs with high numbers of poor and unemployed people in the future. Once the program sunsets, the savings can be shifted by the Legislature and Administration elsewhere.

LAMBRAs, MEAs, and TTAs Eliminated

Prior to the elimination of the EZ program, the LAMBRA program was authorized to attract reinvestment and create re-employment opportunities on certain former military bases. The program had tax incentives similar to those offered in the EZ program. Similarly, Manufacturing Enhancement Areas (MEAs) focused on stimulating job creation in the Border region by providing special state and local incentives to encourage business investment and promote the creation of new jobs. Finally, Targeted Tax Areas (TTAs) were authorized to offer incentives similar to EZs only available to businesses located in the TTAs. AB 93 repeals the existence of LAMBRAs, MEAs, and TTAs as of January 1, 2014. SB 90 contains a provision that will allow LAMBRAs to keep their boundaries, just like EZs, for purposes of being able to qualify for the hiring tax credit.

Repealed Net Interest Deduction

Previously, the law authorized banks making loans to businesses in an EZ to receive a net interest deduction to encourage investment in these disadvantaged areas. The cost of this program was approximately $23 million. AB 93 repeals the existence of the net interest deduction.

New California Competes Credit

This is a new component that currently does not exist, but authorizes businesses to compete for available funds from GO-Biz. A five-member California Competes Tax Credit Committee consisting of the Treasurer, the Director of Finance, the Director of GO-Biz, and an appointee each from the Senate and the Assembly will determine which businesses receive a Personal Income Tax credit or a Corporation Tax credit based on factors such as the number of jobs created, wages paid and job retention. No business can receive more than 20 percent of the total available funds in any given year. There will be a small business set aside for 25 percent of the money, but the total credits will be limited to $30 million in 2013-2014, $150 million in 2014-2015 and $200 million until 2019 when this program is set to expire.

Winners and Losers Under AB 93

Given that the Governor's prior proposals to eliminate EZs contemplated — as with redevelopment — simple elimination and sweeping all savings into the General Fund, the notion that these funds will be used for alternative economic development programs is at least a positive. The reality, however, is that all of these new programs have sunset dates. The significant tax increases in Prop. 30 are also temporary, so it is quite possible that as the sunset dates for these economic development programs approach, groups that rely on General Fund spending will strongly oppose any continuation of these programs.

California manufacturers will benefit by being able to deduct the state's portion of the sales tax from equipment purchases for the time that the exemption is available. Larger companies may benefit more, given their potential ability to shift capital expenditures for the purchase of equipment. It can be argued that this exemption can help California manufacturing compete better with other states, but businesses often make their investment decisions over a longer timeframe than the exemption will be available. Many manufacturing companies plan 10, 15 and 20 years into the future. In order to take advantage of a manufacturing and sales and use tax exemption of up to $200 million in equipment purchases, smaller companies may need more than eight years to make that kind of investment.

Some businesses will, no doubt, also benefit from incentives that will be offered by GO-Biz, but the process will be governed by a committee dominated by elected state officials, so politics can be expected and predicting beneficiaries will be difficult.

Given the elimination of the EZ program and the extremely restricted new employment credit offered as a replacement, the true losers under this proposal are those lower-skilled and hard-to-hire individuals who benefited from jobs offered within these zones, which were set up in areas of poverty and high unemployment. While throughout the EZ debate many disparaged jobs offering wages at $10–$12 per hour, these jobs provided opportunities for many individuals. The incentive for employers to offer such jobs to hard-to-hire individuals has been eliminated. If such jobs do become available, the more skilled and experienced will get them.

Also harmed by this proposal are the communities and businesses that entered into a partnership with the state to create a zone for a term of 15 years based upon criteria adopted by the state. Businesses moved into areas they might not otherwise locate in, built buildings, purchased equipment and hired people. Local governments also offered local incentives. By eliminating these zones before their 15-year terms expired, affected businesses, local governments and individuals hired under the program are left doubting the state's reliability as a business partner. Since retaining jobs is no longer incentivized, and the incentives for new jobs are extremely marginal, it may encourage some businesses to consider expanding or moving elsewhere.

Veterans and LAMBRAs are affected as well. The former hiring tax credit offered many jobs to our military veterans, not those just recently discharged from service. In addition, the incentives under LAMBRAs also benefited the areas around former military bases. The constraints of the hiring tax credit under the Governor's program will limit veterans hired under this program.

Another negative outcome is that opportunities for local involvement in these programs have been eliminated. EZs previously required the full cooperation and support of the local government with additional local incentives offered to businesses. All of these new programs involve business interaction with state officials. The sales and use tax program will be conducted by the State Board of Equalization, the hiring tax credit by the Franchise Tax Board and the California Competes Tax Credit by GO-Biz.

Next Steps

Local governments should realize that businesses in EZs will remain eligible for hiring credits under the former rules of the program for any employees hired before January 1, 2014. This may spark an increase in local hiring before these incentives expire. In addition, Go-Biz is expected to have maps available at the end of 2013 so that businesses and local governments know exactly where the new hiring tax credit is available.

Suspended Mandates and What Cities Can Do About Them

The prevailing trend in recent years of budget crisis has been for the state to attempt to find savings wherever possible including the suspension of state-mandated local programs. This is expected to continue under Gov. Jerry Brown who purports to believe in the philosophy of subsidiarity — restore control and funding responsibility for many government programs to the local level.

Cities have a range of options in responding. In some cases, for political or other reasons, cities have little choice but to continue the activities associated with unfunded mandates. It may be useful for cities to also consider other approaches including:

- Continue with previously mandated activities, knowing that the costs will just have to be absorbed locally;
- Discontinue compliance efforts for the mandates that have been suspended; or
- Seize the opportunity to examine the degree to which the underlying policy or societal goal driving the suspended mandates match local priorities, and to the degree that they do, explore ways to create greater efficiencies through cost saving best practices that may reduce related administrative burdens.

Newly Suspended Mandates

A total of 60 mandates are suspended in FY 2013–14 including five newly suspended for the first time this fiscal year with three (noted by *) relieving cities of previously mandated costs:

- *Domestic Violence Background Checks;
- *Identity Theft;
- Modified Primary Elections;<sup>1</sup>
- Permanent Absent Voters; II<sup>2</sup> and
- *Voter Identification Procedures.

Three affect cities in terms of relieving them of previously mandated costs:

- Domestic Violence Background Checks.
- Identity Theft.
- Voter Identification Procedures.

Domestic Violence Background Checks

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $19.2 million.
- Average Annual Cost: $1.74 million (over 11 years).
- Actual Annual Cost: Exceeded $2.2 million annually over the last three fiscal years.

Summary: Requires district attorneys and prosecuting city attorneys to perform database searches of persons charged with domestic violence, and of persons against whom a domestic violence restraining order may be issued. Information on prior related offenses/incidents is required to be presented to the courts for consideration under certain circumstances.

<sup>1</sup> This mandate represents primarily county responsibilities with no evidence of city participation, or of cities filing reimbursement claims.

Impact on Cities: Counties shoulder this responsibility exclusively in most cases. Many cities that contract out for city attorney services, where they function as prosecuting attorneys, will be affected by this suspension. An estimated 75 percent of cities contract out for this service. The Commission on State Mandates has been queried to determine how much of the cumulative statewide cost is accounted for by contract cities. The State Controller estimates that 33 percent or $6.3 million of these claims were generated by cities.

Cost Saving Best Practices:

- Expand use of digital/electronic search engines and databases;
- Systematically save and store search results in-house to save costs of compliance with respect to repeat offenders;
- Explore pooling resources with other cities and/or county to lower cost of funding this activity; and
- Consult with local district attorney for guidance.

Identity Theft

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $83.4 million.
- Average Annual Cost: $6.4 million (over 13 years).
- Actual Annual Cost: Exceeded $9 million annually over the last five fiscal years.

Summary: Requires local law enforcement agencies to take a police report and begin an investigation when a complainant residing within their jurisdiction reports suspected identity theft.

Impact on Cities: It appears that a majority of acts of reporting triggered by this mandate are performed by municipal police departments, who take the majority of complaints about incidents of identity theft. This is indicated by the fact that reimbursement claims have been filed by 38 percent of cities and 36 percent of counties. Over a period of nine fiscal years, the city of Los Angeles alone accounted for 38 percent of the identify theft reports statewide. The Commission on State Mandates has been queried to determine how much of the cumulative statewide cost is accounted for by cities.

Cost Saving Best Practices:

- Consider pooling investigatory resources with counties;
- Develop uniform procedures for identity theft investigation, drawing from federal, state and county resources; and
- Coordinate with local banks, many of whom can provide financial information packets prepared by bank fraud investigators to be filled out by identify theft victims.

Voter Identification Procedures

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $7.5 million.
- Average Annual Cost: $750,000 (over 10 years).
- Actual Annual Cost: Exceeded $1.2 million in two of the last three fiscal years.

Summary: Requires elections officials to compare the signature on each provisional ballot envelope with the signature on the voter's affidavit of registration, completed at the time that they register to vote.

Impact on Cities: Probably minimal. This is primarily a county responsibility, as the Registrar of Voters is generally a county level office. However, at least two cities in California shoulder this responsibility, based on reimbursement claims filed between FY 2002–03 and FY 2010–11. In the same period, 17 counties filed similar claims. The Commission on State Mandates has been queried to determine how much of the cumulative statewide cost is accounted for by cities.

Cost Saving Best Practices:

- Consult with Association of County Elections Officials.

Previously Suspended Mandates

Animal Adoption

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $158 million.
- Average Annual Cost: $13.1 million (over 12 years).
- Actual Annual Cost: Exceeded $20 million in two of the last three fiscal years.

Summary: Requires local agencies to hold stray animals for an increased period (from three to six days) before they can be euthanized and requires that impounded animals promptly receive necessary veterinary care.

Impact on Cities: Responsibility for this mandate is jointly shouldered by cities, counties, cities and counties, special districts and joint powers authorities. This mandate has a direct impact on cities to the degree they operate animal shelters, and one city was part of the test claim. An estimated 80 percent of the cumulative statewide cost, or $126.4 million, is accounted for by cities.

Cost Saving Best Practices:

- Evaluate what is more cost effective: maintaining a municipal animal shelter or contracting with the county;
- Explore consolidation or joint animal shelter facilities with the home county; and
- Explore possibility of regional animal shelter for even greater cost savings.

Domestic Violence Information

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $20 million over four years (1985-86 to 1988-89).
- Average Annual Cost: $5 million.

- Actual Annual Cost: No recent data available.

Summary: Requires all California law enforcement agencies to develop, adopt, and implement written policies and standards for officers responding to domestic violence calls by January 1, 1986. Also requires law enforcement agencies to develop incident report forms and maintain records of all protection orders with respect to domestic violence incidents.

Impact on Cities: Substantial initial fiscal impact on municipal police departments charged with developing both policies and appropriate forms. These costs likely dropped off dramatically once this work, and any associated training, was completed. This could be an example of a suspended mandate that has been or could be incorporated into best practices and has likely seen a steep decline in reimbursable costs.

Cost Saving Best Practices: This is currently not an issue and has long since been incorporated into local police departments' standard operating procedures.

Inmate AIDS Testing

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $5.5 million over years.
- Average Annual Cost: $916,000.
- Actual Annual Cost: No recent data available.

Summary: Requires that all law enforcement employees report to the chief medical officer any instance in which they come into contact with the bodily fluids of an inmate, a person under arrest, or in custody, and a parolee or probationer.

Impact on Cities: Probably minor. The bulk of law enforcement personnel affected by this mandate serve at the county or state level, given the volume of inmates in county jails and state prisons. Police officers are likely to have limited, less sustained exposure to arrestees who in most instances are released within a few hours or processed and transferred to a county jail. Commission on State Mandates has been queried to determine how much of the cumulative statewide cost is accounted for by cities.

Law Enforcement Sexual Harassment Training

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $2.4 million over eight years.
- Average Annual Cost: $300,000.
- Actual Annual cost: No recent data available.

Summary: Requires that city police departments, county sheriffs' departments, districts, and state university departments follow sexual harassment complaint guidelines developed by the POST.

Impact on Cities: Substantial one-time costs associated with developing formal complaint policies and procedures for officers who are victims of sexual harassment. This is likely another example of a suspended mandate that has been or could be incorporated into best practices and has likely seen a steep decline in reimbursable costs.

Cost Saving Best Practices: No recommendations, already incorporated into departmental standard operating procedures.

Missing Persons Report

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: Unknown, estimate is $90,000,000.
- Average Annual Cost: $5 million (based on FY 1994–95 figures, last reported).
- Actual Annual Cost: No recent data available.

Summary: Requires law enforcement, where a person under age 18 is reported missing, and law enforcement determines it is under suspicious circumstances, to confer with the coroner or medical examiner, and to expedite submission of a missing persons report including dental records, to the Department of Justice.

Impact on Cities: Significant and ongoing because local law enforcement is often the initial point of law enforcement contact on missing persons' cases. However, this mandate is a clear candidate for best practices that would be incorporated in routine law enforcement procedures.

Cost Saving Best Practices: No recommendation, already incorporated into departmental standard operating procedures.

Photographic Record of Evidence

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $2.5 million (over seven years).
- Average Annual Cost: $357,000.
- Actual Annual Cost: Exceeded $110,000 in two of last three fiscal years prior to suspension.

Summary: Requires, upon court order, that a photographic record of evidence, and in some instances a certified chemical analysis of the exhibit, be substituted for those exhibits in a criminal trial that pose a security, storage, or safety problem, or if the exhibit, by its nature, is toxic and poses a health hazard.

Impact on Cities: Significant and ongoing as police departments are frequently involved in the collection of evidence used in criminal prosecutions. Requires development of policies, procedures and manuals for implementation, and maintenance of photographic files.

Cost Saving Best Practices:

- Contract out for chemical analysis as needed and to the extent local resources allow consider putting out periodic RFPs to ensure implementation with maximum cost-effectiveness;
- Devise expedited process for securing court orders where needed, perhaps involving electronic approval; and

- Best practices will vary based on jurisdictional requirements — rely on local district attorney to set policy and provide guidance.

Sex Offenders: Disclosure by Law Enforcement Officers

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $32.7 million (over eight years).
- Average Annual Cost: $4 million.
- Actual Annual Cost: No recent figures available.

Summary: Requires local law enforcement (cities, cities and counties, and community college districts) to notify the Department of Justice regarding the registration of certain convicted sex offenders, provides for public disclosure of the identity of registered sex offenders by local law enforcement agencies. Cities with populations of less than 200,000 are exempted.

Impact on Cities: Significant and ongoing.

Cost Saving Best Practices: No recommendation, already incorporated into standard operating procedures.

Stolen Vehicle Notification

- Cumulative Statewide Cost in Claims: $1.2 million (over six years).
- Average Annual Cost: $200,000.
- Actual Annual Cost: No recent figures available.

Summary: Requires the original reporting law enforcement agency, within 48 hours of being notified of the recovery of a stolen vehicle (excluding weekends and holidays), to notify the reporting party of the location and condition of the recovered vehicle.

Impact on Cities: Minor to significant, and ongoing.

Cost Saving Best Practices: No recommendation, already incorporated into standard operating procedures.

10 Tips for Cities Lobbying the California Legislature

1. Become engaged in the state level political process by appointing a legislative liaison within your city to track key legislation and work with your regional public affairs manager. You can locate contact information for your regional public affairs manager online at www.cacities.org/regionalmanagers.
2. Use the League as a resource. Visit www.cacities.org/legresources to access League priority bills, legislative contacts and additional information. The League's online bill tracking tool can be found at www.cacities.org/billsearch.
3. Read CA Cities Advocate, the League's online newsletter, to stay current on important legislation. Subscribe at www.cacities.org/cacitiesadvocate.
4. Develop relationships with your Senate and Assembly representatives as well as their capitol and district office staff.
5. Get to know members of your local press and educate them on legislative issues affecting your city.
6. Understand how state decisions impact your city's budget.
7. Build networks and collaborate with other groups in your community on key legislative issues.
8. Organize an internal process within your city for developing and proposing changes to laws that will help your city.
9. Adopt local policies on legislation that enable your city to react quickly to the legislative process and respond to League action alerts. View sample city legislative platforms at www.cacities.org/legplatforms.
10. Write letters on legislation featured in CA Cities Advocate. Sample letters can be found at www.cacities.org/billsearch by searching with the bill number or bill author.

Effective Letter Writing Techniques

- 1. Include the Bill Number, Title, and Your Position in the Subject Line. Never bury the bill number and the action you want the legislator to take in the body of the letter.
- 2. One Bill per Letter. Legislators file letters according to the bill number.
- 3. State the Facts. Describe the impact the bill would have on your city. Use “real world” facts; legislators like to know how a bill would specifically affect cities in their districts. The League often provides a sample letter that includes space to describe local impacts. Take the time to provide such examples. This part of the letter is the most valuable to the legislator.
- 4. Think About the Message. Letters may be targeted to specific legislators or entire committees. Think about who you want to act on the bill and message accordingly. If you are writing in support of transportation funding, emphasizing how the project will reduce greenhouse gases might be important to one legislator, while highlighting how the project could encourage additional development and jobs might be important to another. Both messages are correct, but your effectiveness will be in selecting the right message.
- 5. Check for Amendments. Always check the League’s website (www.cacities.org/billsearch) to make sure you are addressing issues in the latest draft. Bills are often significantly amended and the issue you are writing about may have changed or have been deleted altogether by the time you send your letter.
- 6. Send follow-up letters to the appropriate legislative committees as a bill moves along. You can often use your original letter with some modifications. Visit www.cacities.org/billsearch to track the bill’s location. In addition, CA Cities Advocate, the League’s online newsletter, features stories on key legislation.
- 7. Provide a Contact. At the close of the letter, provide a contact person in case there are questions about the city’s position.
- 8. Know the Committees on Which Your Legislator Serves. A legislator is likely to pay more attention to the bill positions of their constituents especially when it comes before his or her committee. At the committee level, this is even more important because your legislator has greater ability at this point in the legislative process to have the bill amended.
- 9. Copy the Right People. Send a copy of the letter to your senator, assembly member and the League. Please also send a copy to each committee member and staff if applicable.
